THE 'CHAIN' GANG

Teetersaw® Introduces The Food Chain Friends®, They Eat Each Other – It's Complicated

This fall, The Food Chain Friends® make their earthly debut at a retailer near you. The newest incarnation from the zany mind of Teetersaw's Jennifer Rapp Peterson, is a set of otherworldly friends that eat each other – it's complicated.

Palling around in gangs of two, three, or five, The Food Chain Friends hail from the planet Daro and thrive in a friendly but off-the-beaten path eco-system. Depending on where they reside in the food chain, the friends play well with each other one minute and become nosh for each other the next. Fergel can gobble Skoodle, Sleeth can scarf Skitter and that is just the beginning of the food chain fun.

Packed with a full dose of irony, these slightly unusual buddies have already been honored as finalists for Family Fun's 2008 Toy of the Year award, an out-of-this-world testament to the appetite they create for play.

The Food Chain Friends band together as Alphas or Betas depending on the habitat from which they hail. And late in 2008 a new crew will be coming to town - the Gamma chain gang. Each set of playful friends with a penchant for munching on one another is sure to provide you with hours of entertainment.

Just remember; keep your friends close but your Food Chain Friends® closer!
